FUTURE ALUMINIUM FORUM

FROM PILOT TO EVERYDAY

The Future Aluminium Forum was initially developed to assist manufacturers and processors in adopting digital technologies and the challenges associated with implementation.

Now in its third year, the Forum has established itself as the key event to show case studies, discuss optimisation through machine learning and examine robotics, automation and augmented reality across the value chain.

Taking place in Québec City, a hub for innovation, the 2020 Forum will bring together major industry players to present and develop the future of aluminium manufacturing.

‘The Smelter of the Future’ has become a common term over the last few years, but what makes a smelter futuristic and what is the impact of upstream changes on downstream applications? The Future Aluminium Forum will look at ‘from pilot to everyday’ projects and what these mean for the industry as a whole.

It is the ideal event for senior level aluminium executives, chief technology officers and specialists with an interest in the application of new technologies to the aluminium manufacturing process.

The two-day conference will feature sessions on the following topics:

- The automated casthouse
- Data capturing and handling
- Cyber-security: Prevention and cure
- Implementation & challenges
- Industry 4.0 maintenance
- Additive manufacturing
